

Additional Instructions From Your School for the Year 2016-2017

Below the name of each institution you've selected may be specific instructions for other filing requirements at that institution. Please follow these instructions carefully, or contact the Financial Aid Office at the institution if you have questions. Any forms listed below are to be filed with the institution's financial aid office.

Columbia University Law School

1. You must be admitted to the school before an aid commitment can be made.
2. You must send the school a signed, dated copy of your 2015 U.S. income tax return. If your tax return is for another country and is prepared in a language other than English, the document must be translated into English and certified by a reputable agency.
3. Parents must send the school a signed, dated copy of their 2015 U.S. income tax return.
4. If the student, spouse, or parent submitted an S-Corporation or Partnership tax return for the 2015 tax year, you must submit completed copies of those forms to the Financial Aid Office.
